Directions: Have students count the cars in each group, and then practice writing the number that tells how many.

Guided Practice:

1. [Images of orange cars]

2. [Images of blue cars]

Directions: Have students count the cars in each group, and then practice writing the number that tells how many.

five hundred fourteen Directions

Have students count the toys in each group, and then practice writing the number that tells how many.

Number Sense

Have students count the train cars, write the number to tell how many, and then write the number that comes after it.
Directions: Have students count the toys in each group, and then practice writing the number that tells how many.

Higher Order Thinking: Have students draw 11 toys, and then practice writing the number that tells how many.